TUESDAY, JANUARY 25th – HIKE

LAUREL FALLS HIKE (2.8 Miles – Easy/Moderate)

Noon – 3 PM

Guide: Kathy Sherrard

This is the most popular waterfall trail in GSMNP. It is considered moderately easy for a 2.8-mile roundtrip paved trail. The falls itself is an 80-foot-high waterfall. Elevation of the hike is a manageable 314 feet. The trail was built originally in the 1930's as an access for fire crews in the event a blaze broke out in the Cove Mountain area. Thirty years later its popularity as a hiking trail coupled with natural erosion created the need for the trail to be paved. Along the trail you'll see lush plant life, including mountain laurel. There are some steep drop offs along the trail especially as you near the falls.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26th – HIKES

ROCKY TOP VIA ANTHONY CREEK HIKE (14 Miles – Strenuous)

7 AM – 5 PM

Guide: Marty Silver

This hike is a 14-mile strenuous hike leading from Cades Cove in Townsend to the Appalachian Trail at the top. Definitely challenging but well worth the view on top when it is clear. This hike is lightly trafficked which is a bonus for those who like the quiet and serenity of the mountains.

LAUREL FALLS/CATARACT FALLS HIKE (12.4 Miles – Moderate/Strenuous)

7:30 AM – 4 PM

Guide: Charles Maynard

This 12.4-mile hike starts on a easy to moderate paved trail to one of the most visited waterfalls in GSMNP. The falls itself is about 80 feet high and the trail itself crosses over approximately the middle of the falls. Once passing the falls you will proceed into a rhododendron tunnel and beautiful trees. You will then reach the old fire tower and then start your downward trek approximately 6.5 miles to Cataract Falls and GSMNP headquarters.

LITTLE RIVER/HUSKEY GAP HIKE (7 Miles – Moderate)

7:30 AM – 5 PM

Guide: George Owen

This trail connecting Little River to Huskey Gap has quite a history due to the fact the Little River Lumber Company bought out several farms and built a base camp with rail lines up steep areas. When the terrain became too steep for the rails, loggers pulled the logs down with overhead cable skidders, mule teams and/or wooden chutes. You will probably see remnants still standing of these structures. Gold was discovered here in the early 20's but the rush was short-lived when someone calculated that you could only earn $1.27 in gold for each ton of rock crushed.

SENIOR NATURE TRAIL HIKE (1 Mile – Easy)

9 AM – 11:30 AM

Guide: Jane Blevins

This is a wonderful short hike partially on black top and partially on woodchips. You will pass through a brief barrier of woods that runs along a stream with a beaver dam. You may see otter swimming as well. Also included will be a visit to a butterfly compound where butterflies are raised and released once they are fully grown.

ABRAMS FALLS (5.2 Miles – Moderate)

9 AM – 4 PM

Guide: Jim McBride

The path leading from Cades Cove to Abrams Falls weaves around the ridges that predominate the area while following Abrams Creek. The route traverses through pine-oak forest along the ridge tops, while passing through rhododendron and hemlock forests closer to the creek. This is considered by many one of the most scenic forest hikes in the Smokies. If you are lucky you might just spot an otter playing in the water as between 1988 – 1990 park biologists released 133 river otters as part of a successful effort to reintroduce species within the park. To underscore the historical significance of this project, the Cherokee word for Cades Cove happens to be “Tsiyahi”, which means “place of the otter”. At almost 2.6 miles, you'll reach the short side trail leading to Abrams Falls. You will want to turn left and cross a footbridge to reach a fairly large beach area to admire the beautiful waterfall. Although Abrams is only 20 feet high, the large volume of water rushing over the sandstone more than makes up for its lack of height. This hike is considered moderate in difficulty.

HIKE TO JOHN OLIVER'S CABIN & OTHER HOMESITES (3.5 Miles – Easy/Moderate)

9:30 AM – 5 PM

Guide: Mark Snyder

The start of this hike is at the entrance to Cades Cove where you will follow the Rich Mountain Loop Trail to the John Oliver Cabin. Along the way you will make some side trips to various former home sites, some are real close to the trail. After reaching the John Oliver Cabin you will continue to some of John Oliver's descendants, one home site still has a nice chimney standing.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 27th – HIKES

HEN WALLOW FALLS (4.4 Miles – Moderate)

7:30 AM – 1 PM

Guide: Keith Garnes

This is a pleasant hike through a hemlock and rhododendron forest. A side trail will lead you down to the base of the falls. The falls are only two feet wide at the top, but fans out to 20 feet at the bottom some 90 feet below. If you look closely you will see salamanders swimming at the bottom.

ALBRIGHT GROVE (7.2 Miles – Easy/Moderate)

7:30 AM – 4:30 PM

Guide: Charles Maynard

This trail hike leads one through a vast forest with a canopy overhead of Eastern hemlock and the needle carpet provides an atmosphere that seems to require whispering. Tulip trees, Fraser magnolias and maples have grown into giants over the years in a virgin forest that Champion Fibre Company once owned. There are beech trees that send out buttress roots; silverbell trees bulge at the base; and Fraser magnolias extend roots that look like big toes. This is an enjoyable historic hike with an old cabin built in 1889 out of one chestnut tree. The trees located on this hike are the largest trees that grow in GSMNP.

FINLEY CANE/TURKEY PEN RIDGE (10 Miles – Moderate)

8 AM – 5 PM

Guide: George Owen

This almost ten-mile loop interlocking four trails begins with rosebay rhododendrons and Fraser magnolias. The first 2.8 miles is a moderate climb reaching the Bote Mountain Trail. Coming down Bote Mountain you will cross the Laurel Ridge Road, then climb slightly for 1.1 miles on the lower portion of the Schoolhouse Gap Trail, winding the remaining trek on Turkey Pen Ridge Trail. Varied forest ranging from a rhododendron tunnel to hickories, big oaks, Eastern hemlocks, tulip poplars, pines and others line the way. Very moderate climb and descents make this a very pleasant hike of some distance.

MIDDLE PRONG (7.5 Miles – Moderate)

9:30 AM – 5 PM

Guide: Mark Snyder

This hike follows an old railroad bed which was the last to be used in hauling out timber in 1939. The Little River Lumber Company hauled out one billion board feet of lumber (enough to build 10,000 homes) during the period of 1903 – 1930. You will see signs of recent disturbance, road cuts, second growth forests, cables and bridges. However, you will see how this area has recovered into the beauty it once showed. You will visit where the Company store stood, home sites, a school, post office and hotel all in the area called Stringtown.

HIKE TO AVENT CABIN (3 Miles – Easy/Moderate)

10 AM – 2 PM

Guide: Jim Jenkins

This is a wonderful short hike to the summer cabin of artist Mayna Treanor Avent from the 1920's to the 40's. The trail follows the old railroad bed built in 1909 by the Little River Lumber Company. During the first section you will pass where many of the old cabins of Elkmont once stood, which was a popular vacation spot before GSMNP was established. The cabin was built in 1845 and purchased by the Avent family in 1918. The National Park Service took final ownership of the cabin in 1932, but awarded a lease to the family until 1992.

WALKER SISTERS (3.5 Miles – Moderate)

11 AM – 5 PM

Guide: Joel Zachry

If you truly want a historical hike, then this is one you don't want to miss. The Walker sisters was a family of eleven children – seven girls and four boys. The home where they were raised consisted of 122 acres and all of the children had moved away except for six girls. When the Park was dedicated in 1940 by President Roosevelt the sisters were paid $4,750 for their land as well as given a lifetime lease. The sisters continued to live and love their previous land and the last one stayed until her passing in 1964. You will hike to their home where you can stand on the porch and imagine what life was like for these sisters who survived, by themselves for many, many years.

At 1.3 miles from the trailhead, you will reach Arch Rock. The arch was formed by freezing and thawing. The trail actually goes under the arch and requires a climb of several steps etched into the stone before exiting at the top. Beyond the Rock hikers will reach Inspiration Point with commanding views of Little Duck Hawk Ridge. The eye of the needle can also be seen from this vantage point. Once reaching the cave itself, you will begin your descent back towards the trailhead. This hike is considered moderate/strenuous and will depend upon road closures on the day of the event.

SCHOOLHOUSE GAP/CHESTNUT TOP (4.7 Miles – Easy/Moderate)

9 AM – 4 PM

Guide: George Owen

The Schoolhouse Gap Trail originated in the 1840's due to Dr. Isaac Anderson, then President of Maryville College, as a means to better educate young male students for the missionary. Dr. Anderson thought a road from Hazel Creek to East Tennessee would allow his mission to reach the multitude of those who were working in copper mining. He wanted to have North Carolina build a road to Spence Field and he would get a road built from Schoolhouse to Spence on the Tennessee side. This hike will give you all of the historical detail and how it was to be paid for and utilized. You will also be given much insight into the growth and demise of the American Chestnut.

CUCUMBER GAP LOOP (5.5 Miles – Easy/Moderate)

8 AM – 2 PM

Guide: Keith Garnes

This trail is located in the Elkmont Campground area of the Park and extends about 5.5 miles in a loop. It begins along a creek with a small waterfall and then extends into the woods with some elevation change. The first trail is the Little River trail and is very level and easy and was used formerly as a logging road by the Little River Lumber Company. At about 2.2 miles you will then make a right turn onto Cucumber Gap with some elevation change although moderate. It is a well-worn path and you will find the stillness of the mountains. At 2.4 miles you will then reach the Jakes Creek trailhead, which is an old gravel road. By turning right, you will begin your descent down into what use to be the summer Elkmont community. Those who have completed this hike suggest you check out the remains of a few old structures that are still erect.

GATLINBURG TRAIL (2 Miles – Easy)

8 AM – 11:30 AM

Guide: Kathy Sherrard

This two-mile riverside jaunt through the woods is right at Gatlinburg's doorstep and is one of the most popular and pleasant hikes in GSMNP. Great choice for families, bicyclists, dog walkers and joggers. This trail is only one of two trails in the park to allow dogs and bicycles. The trail itself leads up to the Park Headquarters. The trail hugs the West Prong of the Little Pigeon River and is quite level. You will pass through second-growth hardwoods and rhododendron thickets. With its rapids and occasional cascades, the river makes a pleasant companion as you follow the well-graded gravel path.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 29TH – HIKES

WEAR COVE GAP/METCALF BOTTOMS HIKE (4.4 Miles – Moderate)

9 AM – 2 PM

Guide: George Owen

This is a great hike beginning at Wear Cove Gap, climbing roughly 450 feet moderately over 1.9 miles on the Littler Greenbrier Trail, then descending 2.5 miles with much history to see on other trails. As the trail leads into Metcalf Bottoms it proceeds toward what became the Little Greenbrier School. In the 1800's schooling was not available to the children of this area so the families that lived in this valley petitioned the Sevier County government for a school and a teacher. Proposals were made by each side and finally in 1882 an agreement was reached: the community would provide the school house and the County would provide the teacher for at least as long as the poll tax ($1.25 per student) would allow. When you walk this trail try to imagine life as it was then. The trail runs left and begins climbing away from the picnic area and river. As you reach a water tower you will notice the stone wall where signs of past lives exist. Further you will find much growth of rhododendron and eventually you will come upon the old school itself. School was only held two months of the year as the children were needed in the fields and this was all that the poll tax could cover. Like many schools built in these mountains this building became the community meeting place as well as a church. This little hike has a great deal of history and is one of the most popular in the Park due to its location and stories.

SUGARLANDS CEMETERY HIKE (6.5 Miles – Easy/Moderate)

9 AM – 2:30 PM

CADES COVE MUSEUM/FOOTHILLS PARKWAY

9 AM – 3 PM

Guide: Gloria Motter

This small museum is located in the Thompson-Brown cabin located on its original foundation in its original location next to Maryville College. It's small, but has a lot of information and artifacts relating to Cades Cove and the many families who lived there. Volunteers are incredibly knowledgeable and helpful. From there you will be given the opportunity to ride the new Foothills Parkway extension which has been in the works for some 75 years and is estimated to be another 20 years until completion. The southern 17 miles running from US 129 at Chilhowee Lake to US 321 at Walland was completed in 1966 and is quite spectacular. The next 16 miles was finally opened in December 2018. There is another 5.6 miles open from I40 south to US 321 near Cosby. This short section was opened in 1968. Meanwhile, in between these sections is 33.5 miles where construction has not even begun. Portions of this fantastic road skirts Great Smoky Mountains National Park and has spectacular views of the area.
